

Early Journal Content on JSTOR, Free to Anyone in the World

This article is one of nearly 500,000 scholarly works digitized and made freely available to everyone in the world by JSTOR.

Known as the Early Journal Content, this set of works include research articles, news, letters, and other writings published in more than 200 of the oldest leading academic journals. The works date from the mid-seventeenth to the early twentieth centuries.

We encourage people to read and share the Early Journal Content openly and to tell others that this resource exists. People may post this content online or redistribute in any way for non-commercial purposes.

EXPLANATION OF PAGING

Owing to the fact that it is necessary to issue the November number of the Bulletin in advance of the Handbook (which is the September number) we have had to resort to the expedient of paging this November issue A1, A2, A3, etc.

The July (Asbury Park Conference) number of the Bulletin is in press and will be mailed to members at the earliest date possible.

LEAGUE OF LIBRARY COMMISSIONS

Suggested topics for discussion at the sessions of the League of Library Commissions, to be held on Friday afternoon and evening, January 2, are the following: Certification of librarians; the part of the state library commission in high school library work; the A. L. A. survey as related to the small libraries of the country; and the enlarged program of the A.
L. A. as it will affect small libraries.
